Sharing Christ Across the Globe

2021–2022 IMPACT REPORT

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

The Gospel and You

“And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in the whole world as a testimony to all nations, and then the end will come.”

Matthew 24:14

So if you turn one to Christ, that one may turn a hundred; they may turn a thousand, and so the stream, small at first, goes on broadening and deepening as it rolls toward eternity.

D. L. MOODY

The gospel for every person.

The vision statement for Moody Bible Institute is exceedingly simple and straightforward—and yet audaciously bold and biblical.

Jesus Christ’s greatest command for His followers is to proclaim the gospel across the earth. Having sacrificed His life for all of mankind, He desires that everyone have the opportunity to receive and respond to the hope found only in Him. Making the gospel known until the whole world hears is a duty that Moody eagerly and joyously embraces.

I am grateful each day for your partnership in achieving this gospel-centered mission. While our world appears increasingly broken, our optimism at Moody shines increasingly brighter. Looking back on 2021–2022, we have seen God purposefully working to change lives through every facet of our ministry:

- Moody Radio presenting the gospel more frequently and persistently than ever
- More alumni sharing and living the gospel than at any time in Moody’s history
- Moody Publishers and Today in the Word communicating transformative biblical truth to an ever-widening audience
- Students training to impact the world with the gospel wherever God leads them

May this report leave a lasting impression in your mind of the critical role you play in God’s redemptive plans through Moody.

Until the Whole World Hears,

MINISTRIES OF MOODY

Proclaiming the Gospel

Since our founding in 1886, God’s foremost mission for Moody has been to proclaim the gospel near and far. From presenting God’s plan of salvation on every Moody Radio station and channel to training our students as ambassadors for Christ wherever God leads, our primary passion is to make the gospel available for every person around the world.

We’re being poured out for the sake of the gospel while investing in people and sharing life with them, crying with them, encouraging them, and sharing our testimony. I’m humbled by how God has used us.

Moody Alumni: Sharing Christ in the Midst of War

Russia’s military invaded Ukraine on February 24, 2022, sparking the most brutal war the world has witnessed in decades. That same evening, graduates of Moody Bible Institute immediately began serving Ukrainian families evacuating their homeland, pointing them to Jesus Christ.

Adelina Ghilea, a 2015 Moody graduate, joined a grassroots network of volunteers helping Ukrainians find safe passage into Romania and support for transitioning to live in other European countries. Sergey Rakhuba, a 1995 graduate, mobilized his Mission Eurasia ministry to provide humanitarian aid and distribute gospel tracts and Bibles throughout Ukraine and other Eastern European nations.

Emily Rudolph, a 2002 graduate, and her family had to flee Ukraine, where she was teaching at a Christian school in Kyiv, just before the war erupted.

Since arriving in Poland, Emily and her husband have volunteered as refugees serving the needs of other Ukrainian refugees, including sharing their testimony and the gospel.

Matthew Snyder, a 2013 graduate and Moody instructor, traveled with his wife from Chicago to spend spring break distributing critical supplies and supporting Ukrainians in Eastern Europe and Western Ukraine.

Claire Patty, a 2016 graduate, has shared the love and hope of Christ with dozens of Ukrainian refugee moms and their children in the Czech Republic as kids director of Josiah Venture, a church-planting ministry.

As they serve refugees whose lives have been thrown into chaos, our alumni lovingly and intentionally present the gospel as often as they can. Their zeal for sharing Christ was nurtured as students at Moody. “It was in the DNA of the school,” Emily Rudolph said. “We all had the same purpose of glorifying God and serving Him with our lives.”

Moody Radio and Today in the Word: A Bold Step into Africa

In January 2022 the Moody Radio weekday program Bold Steps with Dr. Mark Jobe entered a partnership with Far East Broadcasting Company to broadcast twice a day on stations in Malawi, Mozambique, and Tanzania. Moody Radio's first international release is now airing the gospel message in a region representing over three million listeners, specifically the unreached Yao Muslims.

Yao Muslims have traditionally resisted church planting and other outreach efforts, but today they are hearing and responding to the gospel like never before. Personal testimonies of their newfound faith in Christ pour in to Moody Radio nearly every week.

When I started listening to Bold Steps, I found the right way to God through the gospel.

"I used to hate Christians. I even called them the enemies of Islam," said Fasilu, a former Yao Muslim. "However, when I started listening to Bold Steps I found the right way to God through the gospel. It has mended my life to Jesus, the One I used to hate before."

Building on this partnership, Moody and FEBC began translating and broadcasting the Today in the Word audio program in the Chiyao language in Malawi. "This really encompasses Moody's goal for the 2030 vision of doubling our impact," said Judy Kron, Bold Step's executive producer.

Moody Alumni: Taking the Good News to Restricted Regions

Moody teaches students to follow God's call on their lives wherever He leads, including countries where Christianity faces serious restrictions.

Wayne,* a 2021 Moody graduate, is a missionary who shares Christ predominantly with Muslim students through a campus outreach and a conversational English class in a Middle Eastern country.

"Moody is a great place to learn and do ministry," Wayne said. "The ministry training we received (in Practical Christian Ministries) was the most fruitful and beneficial part of my experience at Moody."

After graduating from Moody Bible Institute in 2017, Josh and Hillary followed God's lead to serve as missionaries in Cambodia, where less than one percent of residents are professed Christians. From distributing children's Bibles and presenting the gospel in after-school programs to witnessing in villages throughout the country, Josh and Hillary want to be used by God to reach as many Cambodians as possible.

Moody Alumni: Helping the Most Vulnerable Meet Jesus

From helping women caught in the dark pit of sex trafficking to assisting struggling families in under-resourced communities, our alumni are sharing the love and hope of Christ in the Chicago area.

Simone (left) with the first graduate of Naomi's House.

Simone Halpin, a 2008 graduate of Moody Theological Seminary, serves as executive director of Naomi's House, a residential ministry for women trapped in commercial sexual exploitation. This past year, the number of women who have completed the Chicago residential program grew to 13, and the ministry expanded to launch a day residence program in Chicago's suburbs.

Simone credits Moody with equipping her to introduce women to Jesus Christ, disciple them from God's Word, and integrate them into a Christ-centered community. "I specifically learned so much about urban ministry at Moody," Simone said.

In Chicago's Little Village neighborhood, Matt DeMateo, pastor and executive director at New Life Centers and a 2003 Moody graduate, unveiled Pan De Vida, a new full-time food distribution facility that began supporting the surrounding under-resourced community on June 13. Pan De Vida provides free groceries for families and connections to community and resources, including a state-of-the-art computer lab, an after-school homework program, and a job training mentor program.

The ultimate mission of Pan De Vida's services is to lead youth and families to Christ, the Bread of Life. (Pan De Vida means Bread of Life.)

Unlikely Friends Write New Book on Witnessing

Craig Cooper and Walker Hayes were about as diametrically opposite as two men could be. Craig was a pastor in Franklin, Tennessee, and Walker was an atheist struggling with alcoholism and a failing country music career.

Craig and Walker forged an unlikely friendship through their kids' athletic involvement. By demonstrating God's love, Craig shattered Walker's misconceptions of Christianity. Walker eventually surrendered his life to Christ, and the two men grew so close that their families became next-door neighbors. They even tore down the fence separating their backyards, symbolizing the gospel's power to remove barriers and unite us in Christ.

Last year Craig and Walker collaborated to write a book, Glad You're Here, based on their relationship. Released by Moody Publishers, Glad You're Here has already sold over 60,000 copies and led to interviews with national media outlets. The book reveals how the gospel can transform people through the gift of friendship and how God can equip us to be His witnesses in a broken world.

"My greatest desire is that Jesus would be exalted through this story we've told," Craig Cooper said. "May this book be used by God as a catalyst for revival in the souls of believers and unbelievers alike all over the world. I'm praying that it strengthens the church and advances the gospel for the glory of Jesus Christ!"

EDUCATION

Equipping Tomorrow's Leaders

Each year, students online and in person at Moody Bible Institute, Moody Aviation, and Moody Theological Seminary in Chicago and Michigan are being shaped, mentored, and trained to take the gospel to a lost world that desperately needs Christ. Your support is the window of opportunity that allows our students to receive the Bible education, training, and spiritual development that equips them to follow God's unique purpose for their lives.

I get up every day knowing the work we do here at Moody is having an impact for the cause of Christ both now and for eternity as we see men and women being transformed by the power of the gospel and equipped to be Christ's workmanship for the glory of God.

75 Years of Training Mission Aviators

In 2021–22 Moody Aviation celebrated its 75th year of preparing pilots, mechanics, and avionics technicians to advance the gospel around the globe. It is the world's first and oldest school devoted to training missionary pilots in pursuit of the Great Commission. Since 1946, our alumni have poured their lives into mission and humanitarian relief work with over 110 mission organizations in more than 60 countries.

Since Moody Aviation's founding, roughly 1,000 students have graduated as pilots and maintenance specialists. More than 70 percent of graduates have served with missionary-sending agencies, accounting for nearly half of all pilots and mechanics for Mission Aviation Fellowship and JAARS. Our graduates' dedication enables Bible translation, church planting, disaster relief, emergency aid, and transportation that delivers the good news of Christ to the most remote regions of the world.

“Those who are called to share in the exciting work of mission aviation look forward to watching the light of Christ dawn in dark places,” said Cecil Bedford, Moody Aviation professor emeritus. “They help the news of His love reach the ends of the earth for the very first time.”

PCMs: Preparing Students to Reach the World

Practical Christian Ministries (PCM) is a longstanding program at Moody Bible Institute that many alumni and current students say is the most important factor in their development at Moody. Serving at ministries throughout Chicago each week, students deepen their faith, stretch their hearts and skills for serving, prepare for life and ministry after graduation, and influence others for Christ in a real-world urban context.

Moody PCMs worked in concert with 234 different churches and agencies in Chicago, ranging from Pacific Garden Mission (homeless ministry) and Exodus World Service (kids club for Afghan refugee children) to Sabka Sahaara (church ministering to refugee families) and ASHA Outreach (restoring women caught in sex trafficking).

“I came to Moody because of PCMs,” said Emily Taylor, a senior at Moody who tutors children with a PCM at the South Asian Friendship Center. “I just love the idea of meeting the tangible needs of the community while sharing the love and hope of Jesus.”

Sometimes students witness the fruit of their seed-sowing at PCMs. Over 100 people surrendered their lives to Christ in 2021–22 as a direct result of PCMs, including a woman enrolled in an English as a Second Language class run by a PCM. “Peiwen gave her life to Jesus!” said Jane, a senior at Moody. “Praise God! I have been praying for this!”

New Degree Programs Expand Gospel Reach

Starting this year, Moody is offering three new associate and certificate programs that will train students to communicate the gospel and instill biblical truth among diverse people groups.

The Children and Family Ministry program prepares students to share the gospel and teach and disciple kids and parents in a range of ministry settings, from churches and orphanages to after-school programs. The Intercultural Studies program equips students to proclaim the gospel and serve the global church across a variety of cultural boundaries as a missionary, church planter, ministry leader to immigrants and refugees, and a range of other roles. Both programs offer bachelor’s, associate’s, and undergraduate certificate degree options.

The undergraduate Certificate in Disability Ministry is for students with a heart for those with disabilities and the people charged with their care. Featuring online and on-campus options, the program teaches how to serve and share God’s love in churches, camp and parachurch ministries, social service work, and high schools and colleges.

More Students Learning Online Than Ever

Moody’s online programs allow students anywhere in the world to graduate with a master’s, bachelor’s, or associate’s degree or certificate while training them for God’s unique purpose for their lives. Students can also participate in our hyflex model, providing the flexibility of viewing courses live on Zoom or watching a recorded version at a later time.

Living with his wife and two boys in Wasilla, Alaska, 2,200 miles from Moody’s Chicago campus, Adrian Ortiz graduated from Moody with a BS in Biblical Studies in 2021 after taking courses online for four years. He was hired by an Alaskan church as its full-time youth pastor, fulfilling a dream God placed on his heart several years earlier.

“Those four years in Moody’s online program were so important,” Adrian says. “My training and understanding of Scripture and the tools I gained for critical thinking, a biblical foundation, hermeneutics, Bible study—I’m so grateful for Moody, what my professors poured into me, and what I learned from classmates from all over the world.”

I’m so grateful for Moody, what my professors poured into me, and what I learned from classmates from all over the world.

The generosity of Moody partners is allowing students from all over the world to prepare for a life of service to God. Our latest campaigns for Giving Day, 48 Hours of Impact, and Launch a Leader each exceeded their fundraising goals, generating a combined $1.6 million toward critically needed scholarships and donor-paid tuition for students at Moody Bible Institute and Moody Aviation.

Interest Soars in Clinical Mental Health Counseling Program

With the US in the midst of an unprecedented mental health epidemic, Clinical Mental Health Counseling (CMHC) has emerged as one of Moody Theological Seminary’s fastest-growing programs. Enrollment in CMHC increased from 76 students in 2020–21 to 99 in 2021–22 and has nearly doubled since 2016–17.

Like all of Moody’s programs, our seminaries in Chicago and Michigan teach clinical mental health counseling from a biblical perspective. They also operate counseling centers on their campuses that supply students with hands-on experience working with local clients. The result? Transformative Bible-based training that sends graduates into their field fully equipped to make an eternal difference in future clients’ lives.

“The main goal is understanding what clients really need,” MTS graduate Heather Marscheider says. “It’s to feed their mind but also their soul with the hope of Christ.”

New Leader for New Season of Growth

When Doug Hastings announced his retirement after a storied run leading Moody Radio, the radio ministry’s choice as his replacement was a broadcast and ministry veteran who shares Doug’s passion for evangelism and discipleship.

Wes Ward—named vice president in February 2022—brings an intimate knowledge of Moody Radio to his new leadership post. Wes served as Moody’s national program director in the late 1990s. He also directed KCBI-FM Dallas, FamilyLife Ministries, and Revive Our Hearts in three decades of innovative work in media ministry.

“I’m honored to be asked to serve in a legacy ministry like Moody that has glorified God and made so many disciples over the past 135 years,” Wes said. “I’m looking forward to serving the Moody Radio team and partners to advance the gospel with continued boldness and innovation, trusting God will enable us for the task.”

Wes discovered his calling in Christian broadcasting while working at a local Christian radio station at age 16. He is a recognized leader in the National Religious Broadcasters association (NRB), where he served on the board for more than 20 years.

“As we seek to double our impact by 2030,” Doug Hastings said, “I know our team will thrive under Wes’s leadership of reaching more people with the gospel and helping them take the next step in their journey with Jesus Christ.”

Moody Radio has impacted me to share the gospel with others and has encouraged me so much over the years. I hope Moody Radio continues to impact people’s lives.

JACOB KOLECZEK

Episodes of The Grandfather Effect were downloaded 70,000 times in 90 countries in just eight weeks.

Witness While You Work

As a new follower of Jesus Christ, Jacob Koleczek, an electrician from Tinley Park, Illinois, quickly developed an insatiable desire to study God’s Word and to communicate the gospel. When he found Moody Radio, it helped him grow in his understanding of Scripture and learn how to share his faith with wisdom, love, and confidence.

“I enjoy the messages I’m getting from Moody Radio so much that it’s on in my car all the time,” Jacob said. “I’m taught a lot of ways to say things I want to say to others who don’t know Christ but can never think of how to say them.

I consistently have an opportunity at work to share something I learned on the station with coworkers.”

Listening to Moody Radio on the job afforded him a chance to present the gospel to a colleague—with eternity-altering results.

“I had worship music playing. An apprentice asked why I listened to it,” Jacob said. “I explained how it helps me focus on what is really important. He asked how I heard of this music. I told him my story and the truth of Christ and gave a brief illustration of the gospel. He broke down in tears and gave me a hug right there. I gave him the Bible out of my car and told him to start reading the Gospel of John and Ephesians. He now considers me his best friend. He calls me for advice and explains how I’ve impacted his life.”

Reaching New Audiences through Podcasts

Moody Radio’s entry into podcasting continues to open new doors through life-changing biblical content. In spring 2022, The Grandfather Effect became the fastest-growing podcast in Moody Radio history. Told in a fresh storytelling format, the seven-episode series followed host and creator Brian Dahlen’s family and their emotional road from relational brokenness to reconciliation.

The podcast attracted a largely first-time audience to Moody Radio; 86 percent of its unique listeners were new to our on-demand programming.

‘I Met Jesus Thanks to This Program’

Over five excruciating years, Renée mourned the unexpected passing of her mother, her baby, her father, her boyfriend, and finally her best friend. “I was lost and full of grief,” Renée remembered. “I wanted to sleep and never wake up.”

I was lost and full of grief. I wanted to sleep and never wake up.

One day, in desperate need of encouragement, she happened across

“I hope this podcast has drawn listeners closer to Jesus and helps stop unhealthy cycles of generational sin in families,” Brian Dahlen said.

A podcast offering a Christian perspective on mental health, Becoming Well reached more listeners than ever in its third season with Moody Radio. Hosted by Moody professors and clinically trained counselors Dr. Deb Gorton and Dr. Mary Hendrickson, the podcast saw a record 30,000 downloads of its episodes.

Unlocking the Bible on Moody Radio. “I heard Pastor Colin Smith on his program,” she said. “He spoke about a God who is close to the brokenhearted. I would stay in my car just to listen to his comforting words.”

After following Unlocking the Bible for a few weeks, Renée came to clearly understand the gospel and embraced Christ as her personal Savior. “I met Jesus thanks to this program,” she said. “I thank Moody Radio for sharing the Word with lost people like me who have nothing to hold onto in times of grief.”

Moody Publishers' new Bible to Life website (bibletolife.com) has exceeded all expectations. In less than a year, nearly 500,000 visitors engaged with Bible to Life content about 600,000 times, and its Facebook page reached over 7.1 million people.

Bible to Life is an online resource library that directs pastors, church leaders, parents, Christian business leaders, and non-Christians to learn about, engage with, and love God's Word. ### Saying Yes to Serving Ukrainians During War

My Yes Is on the Table uses the story of the Israelites' journey out of the wilderness and into the Promised Land to challenge readers to take a step of faith and put their "yes" on the table. Like the message of her new Moody Publishers book, author Jennifer Hand bravely said yes to God's call to serve in trauma care on a short-term mission trip to Ukraine in the middle of its war with Russia.

Emailing Moody Publishers from the heart of Ukraine, Jennifer wrote, "This has been the most stretching and heartbreaking 'yes' I have ever said yet. I have seen God in ways that I cannot even find words for."

Jennifer learned quickly how to apply her master's-degree training in trauma counseling and her vibrant faith in Christ in a war-torn nation. Shortly after her missions group arrived in Ukraine, the Russian military attacked their host city with missiles. Jennifer and her team escaped unharmed despite driving for several hours in a war zone, accidentally breaching a military roadblock, and even being stuck in a broken elevator on the 16th floor of an apartment complex bombed days earlier.

I have seen God in ways that I cannot even find words for.

"Later I made it back to base after getting to give away 30 bags of supplies and food," Jennifer recalled. "I got to hold lots of people while they sobbed and told me horrific stories about the war. I prayed with them and led two people to Christ. It was an unforgettable day."

The Gospel Sent at Just the Right Time

SENT A reader recently shared a powerful story of how she received the Moody Publishers book Sent: Living a Life that Invites Others to Jesus at the ideal moment.

The reader reported that a friend's husband was diagnosed with cancer and died just two months later. Fortunately the reader was able to present the gospel to him, and he trusted Christ as his Savior shortly before passing away.

"It wouldn't have been possible without that book," the reader said. "I don't know what made me get the book, but it has been just wonderful."

The award-winning book, written by Heather and Ashley Holleman, invites readers to live out their true identity as Christ followers sent to share Jesus with those they encounter. Outreach Magazine named Sent its 2021 Resource of the Year for evangelism and apologetics.

The 5 Love Languages: Reaching New Heights

With its biblically based principles for building healthy relationships, Gary Chapman's international bestselling book The 5 Love Languages® continued to influence a widening circle of Christians and non-Christians alike across the globe last year.

Digitally, over 22 million people discovered their love language using the online or in-app quiz, and 5lovelanguages.com welcomed 30 million visitors from six continents and nearly every country in the world. On social media, information about The 5 Love Languages was seen by 23.7 million users. Another 828,000 people learned about The 5 Love Languages by engaging with educational social media posts.

The 5 Love Languages brand even partnered with a prestigious hotel and resort to offer a Love Language™ concierge package for a limited time, introducing their clientele to proven relationship-enhancing concepts while expanding the brand's reach.

Prison Fellowship partnered with Today in the Word once again to publish a Spanish-language version of the Bible study Face to Face with Jesus. This outreach will provide studies for Spanish-speaking men and women in our nation’s prisons.

Partnerships Expand Outreach

Today in the Word has continued to partner with Fellowship of Christian Athletes, producing Gospel of Matthew studies for their swim and dance outreach ministries. In addition, a partnership with FCA Wrestling produced 10,000 New Testament Bibles featuring gospel studies from Today in the Word.

In a new partnership with FEBC, the Today in the Word devotional audio program is now reaching even more listeners across the world. FEBC broadcasts Christian programming in 145 languages and 50 countries and is committed to sharing the gospel with a potential listening audience of four billion people. Today in the Word is thrilled to join this evangelistic venture.

App Enriches Bible Reading

More than 91,000 readers are now active users of the Today in the Word app. One reader recently shared the ways that the app has strengthened her Bible study habits:

Thank you for your sound biblical teaching with practical application.

“You can go back and listen to the devotion you missed or hear or read it a second time and look up Bible verses right from the app,” she said. “You can take notes on your favorite parts and they are stored on the app! I can look back over several years and re-listen to past devotions when someone is going through a rough time and I want to encourage them. I love the calendar option with checkmarks to keep me accountable. Thank you for your sound biblical teaching with practical application!”

Transforming an Inmate’s Life and Marriage

Shortly after John and Lisa were married in Oregon, John was arrested and sentenced to 10½ years in prison. But God brought hope to a seemingly hopeless situation and transformed John’s life and John and Lisa’s marriage.

Behind bars, John was handed a Today in the Word Bible study through the Set Free prison ministry. Each month, more than 6,500 inmates receive the devotional through partnering prison ministries. Thanks to an ongoing partnership with Prison Fellowship, 10,000 Spanish-language copies of a special “through the gospels” devotional were ordered for inmates this fiscal year. Copies of the devotional were distributed to 100,000 inmates in 2020–21.

John told Lisa about Today in the Word, and she signed up for the daily email. As the couple studied God’s Word, they would often discuss it by phone. Their newfound devotion to biblical truth was life changing. John was released from prison in April 2022, and the couple’s marital relationship and walk with God is stronger than ever.

“Today in the Word has been an invaluable resource for our individual spiritual growth and our marriage relationship,” Lisa said.

Today in the Word has had a significant effect on my life. I stumble and fall almost every day, and Today in the Word reminds me of the abundant promise God has for us. I am filled with hopelessness, but Today in the Word revives my hope.

Investing in Eternity

“You will be enriched in every way so that you can be generous on every occasion, and through us your generosity will result in thanksgiving to God.”

2 Corinthians 9:11

I wanted to give back so others can experience Moody.

God continues to graciously provide the financial resources needed to sustain and grow the ministries of Moody Bible Institute.

Even with the challenges and extra expenses associated with operating the school and media ministries during COVID, we are grateful to have ended the year with a positive cash flow.

Why I Give to Moody

Dr. Berlean Burris was a leader in higher education, a registered nurse, a community advocate, and wife of former US Senator Roland Burris. But ever since she was a child, Dr. Burris had longed to study the Bible formally. When the opportunity arose to enroll in graduate classes at Moody Theological Seminary, she quickly seized it.

She hasn't been the same since.

“While I was at Moody, my life was transformed,” Dr. Burris said. “I had been a Christian, but at Moody I learned what it meant to have a relationship with Jesus Christ. I just fell in love. I would spend hours reading and studying—it captured my heart.”

I will treasure my experience at Moody forever.”

Dr. Burris was so grateful for her education and spiritual development at Moody that she sponsors a scholarship for young adults needing financial assistance to follow God's call at the school. Working with the Field Foundation, who matched her contributions, she accrued a scholarship fund totaling over $100,000. Students can now attend Moody from the interest on her investment.

“Moody was such an excellent experience for me,” Dr. Burris explained. “I wanted to give back so others can experience Moody.”

‘We Count It a Privilege to Give to Moody’

Guy and Elizabeth Thurmond of South Carolina give to Moody's Today in the Word ministry. “We count it a privilege to be able to give to Moody. The Today in the Word daily devotions are a wonderful way to start the day. So many times the messages seem to be exactly what we needed! Thank you!”

Cassie of Ohio gives to Moody Radio and has been listening for the last 15 years. Moody Radio has kept her focus on the Lord and trusting in Him while she is homeless and unemployed. “I know the Lord will provide for me and that He has it all in His hands. I eventually want to start a homeless ministry because I know what it is like.”

I am happy and blessed to once again be able to contribute the enclosed amount, which helps myself and others continue to receive the ongoing word-to-life programming that your radio station provides. It is important for me to know that no matter what circumstances may come my way as an inmate, I can always count on 24-hour-a-day Moody Radio Cleveland programming.

Preparing for Greater Gospel Impact

Moody was started to fulfill the mission of training people—no matter what career, no matter what calling, whether in the marketplace or vocational ministry—to make a difference for the name and the sake of our Lord Jesus Christ, bringing a gospel witness to every segment of society. That is the mission of Moody Bible Institute.

Vision 2030: Doubling Our Impact

When he was appointed Moody Bible Institute’s 10th president in 2019, Dr. Mark Jobe guided Moody’s leadership to implement Vision 2030. For the last three years, we have prayerfully sought God’s provision and blessing as we pursue His plan for our ministry.

Vision 2030 is a bold, ambitious commitment. We are asking God to give Moody a double portion of kingdom impact by 2030. Two years into Vision 2030, He is already moving through our ministries to reach more people with the good news of Christ than ever before. Nearly 2,000 pastors have been trained at Moody School of the Bible in Ghana to proclaim the gospel in their communities. Listeners across East Africa are discovering how to begin a personal relationship with Christ through Bold Steps with Dr. Mark Jobe thanks to a partnership with Far East Broadcasting Company. Today in the Word is building more lives on a firm biblical foundation than ever in its 36-year history.

Many more examples are explained throughout this impact report. And we know God’s transforming work through our gospel-focused mission has only just begun.

We recognize our responsibility to be wise stewards of everything He has entrusted to us as we continue to focus on our 2030 vision of doubling Moody’s impact for Christ’s kingdom.

Campus Redevelopment Land Sales Helping Fund Vision 2030

An integral component to fulfilling Vision 2030 is the sale of some non-core sections of our campus real estate to help fund our growth plan. Our campus redevelopment initiative includes key strategies and planning for future infrastructure needs, in-class technologies, and investments that will grow our educational, broadcasting, and publishing ministries for greater kingdom impact.

This past year, Moody took notable steps forward in funding our Vision 2030 initiatives through the sale of three key properties. In December 2021 Moody closed on the first of several related real estate transactions for a total of $98.1 million. In March 2022 Moody closed on a second transaction that generated approximately $15 million. In May a third closing took place totaling $30 million that raised our total revenue from campus redevelopment sales to roughly $143 million.

The fourth and final phase of the planned development project will first require JDL, Moody’s partner, to provide a new athletic facility to eventually replace Moody’s Solheim Center. This new building will allow Moody to continue to provide facilities for athletics, intramural sports, fitness, and potentially mixed-use space for conferences and other student needs. Solheim will remain fully operational until the new facility opens.

We are deeply grateful for God’s ongoing provision toward Moody. We recognize our responsibility to be wise stewards of everything He has entrusted to us as we continue to focus on our 2030 vision of doubling Moody’s impact for Christ’s kingdom.
